National Debts

The subject of government indebtedness is at the present time attracting as much attention in England as in this country. The efforts of the United States to reduce and convert its debt [illegible] many of the [illegible] it has stirred English [illegible] to [illegible] at current discussion in reference to their debt. In an elaborate article on the growth and position of National Debts, their origin, progress and present condition, the Washington [illegible] presents many valuable and interesting statistics, from which we quote the following:

England, having the largest indebtedness, is entitled to precedence. In 1700 the then United Kingdom of England [illegible] until 1801 had a debt of £[illegible], which had grown in 1815 to £8[illegible]1,000,000, and stands in 1870 at £741,000,000, with an interest of 17s 3d resting on each head of the population. The rates of interest have been heavy during the war, and the rates of decrease have been small during peace. Thus from 1683 to 1763, 74 years, the average annual increase was £1,800,000; during the American war, £11,000,000; during 22 years of French war, £28,000,000; in two years of the Crimean war, £13,000,000 per annum. The rates of decrease, £2,000,000 a year, are ridiculously low for a rich country like England.

France in 1715 had a debt of £124,000,000. In 1870, before the recent war was begun, it had reached a total of £518,000,000, and represented an annual impost of 8s 5d for each person. During the first Empire the average increase of the French debt was £2,500,000 a year. From 1815 to 1830 the Bourbons [illegible] £5,000,000 per annum; 1830 to 1848 the Orleans reign £[illegible]; from 1852 to 18[illegible] the [illegible] Empire [illegible] the Crimean, Italian, Chinese, Cochin China, Mexican and German wars having raised the capital of the debt to £[illegible]000,000, its present amount. But as a drawback to this [illegible] the State will become absolute owner of all the railroads, now worth more than £[illegible].

Austria, like France, is a country of uninterrupted deficits. In 1700 its debt was £15,000,000; from that date to 1789 its annual increase was £800,000; 1789 to 1820, French wars, £2,000,000; 1820 to 1848, an annual increase of £1,000,000; 1849 to 1865, annual increase of £9,000,000. The Austrian debt ran up from £125,000,000 in 1848 to £3[illegible]0,000,000 in 1868, by the wars with Hungary, Italy, France and Prussia.

North and South Germany, including Prussia, owe £1[illegible]0,000,000. The interest is at 2s 10d per head.

Russia owed £53,000,000 in 1850, which is now £300,000,000, with interest at 2s 10d per head.

Spain owed £140,000,000 in 1850, which has risen to £225,000,000, with 7s interest.

Holland, which had a debt of £1[illegible]0,000,000 in 1850, has reduced it to £80,000,000, with interest at 12s 3d.

The national debt of Belgium is £29,000,000, for which her population bears a charge of 4s per head.

Italy owes £257,000,000, the annual increase being £19,000,000.

In 1790 the debt of the United States was £15,000,000, which had sunk to £1,000,000 in 1840, and was £13,000,000 in 1860. After the war, say in July 1865, the American debt was £580,000,000. In four years this debt was reduced to an amount in round numbers of £471,000,000, and the rate of interest from 16s 3d to 12s 6d per head. In short, the debt is being paid off at the rate of £15,000,000 sterling a year. At this rate, vast as it is, we may hope to see it discharged in a little more than twenty five years.

In 1813 England owed £861,000,000, with interest 33s 5d per head. In 1820 it had been brought down to £834,000,000 and 23s 10d. It was further reduced to £783,000,000 in 1830, with 23s 1d interest. It stood at £788,000,000 with 21s [illegible] interest in 1840. Ten years later it was £787,000,000 and 20s 5d interest. After this, thanks to the maneuvers of Louis Napoleon, which drew England into the Crimean war, the national debt had run up in 1860 to £[illegible]0,000,000, with 19s 6d interest. At present it is £741,000,000, 17s 3d interest, which is lower than it has been since the year 1810. At a reduction of $2,000,000 per annum, which is the English average, it will take centuries to pay off this British debt of £734,000,000.

France, Austria, Russia, Spain and Italy are increasing instead of diminishing their debts. The annual increase for many years has been £5,000,000 in the case of France, £13,000,000 in that of Italy, £10,000,000 in that of Spain, £9,000,000 in that of Austria, and £6,000,000 in that of Russia.

In Belgium the debt is being gradually paid off by the surplus of revenue over expenditure and the operation of the sinking fund. In Belgium the State is a great railroad proprietor, owning nearly all the railways, to the extent of 1,300 miles. The State railway has to purchase itself, so to say, with its own surplus revenue, and it will entirely have done this in 1884, by which its net revenue will amount to about $5,000,000 a year, which will be sufficient to pay the then reduced—through the sinking fund—interest on the national debt. Each railway built on concession by private companies lapses gratuitously to the State in ninety years from the time of its being made, so that in time the entire system will, by the influx of time, become national property. The same railway absorption takes place in Sweden, where the debt is eight million, nearly all contracted to construct State railroads, whose profits will eventually extinguish the debt. As for Norway, her debt, only one million sterling, will be absolutely paid off by the end of 1871. With these trifling exceptions, the United States stand alone in their honest resolution, vigorously carried out, of getting out of debt. The whole history of finance shows no parallel to this, which energy, honesty, prudence and national pride have united to effect.

THICKNESS OF THE CENTRE WEB OF RAILS.—Baron von Weber, Engineer of the State Railways of Saxony, has recently published the details of some experiments made by him, which we find given in [illegible] for October 7th. He desired to ascertain what was the [illegible] thickness which would be given to the web [illegible] latter might still possess [illegible] resistance [illegible] with great care by an instrument [illegible] registering 1/100 inch [illegible] was planed down [illegible] was a slight permanent lateral deflection of the head caused [illegible] the spikes gave way. Baron von Weber concludes that webs [illegible] in thickness are amply strong enough for rails of any ordinary height, and that in fact the webs should be made as thin as the process of rolling and as the provision of sufficient bearing for the fish plate bolts will permit.

An American Boy at Sedan

A New York boy, sixteen years of age, who is at school in Brussels, sends the following letter to the [illegible], describing a visit he had made to the battle field of Sedan:

BRUSSELS, Sept. 19, 1870.—I left here Saturday morning with three school fellows, the [illegible] and another gentleman, for Sedan. We took the cars for Libramont, about four hours ride, where we expected to find a carriage we had sent on from Brussels the night before. On account of the train being detained we had to wait three or four hours. While waiting we saw a large train of ambulances come in with some French wounded. It was a sad sight to see them getting out of the [illegible] wagons and going to a shed to wait for the cars. Some could not walk and had to be carried. They were all kindly cared for by the Prussians, and a great many gave them something as they got in, a cigar or some little thing. A short time after they arrived our carriages came and so we immediately left for Bouillon, a ride of about twenty four miles. The road is the handsomest that I was ever on. It is hard and perfectly straight for miles, with large shade trees on each side, and the country all around is beautiful. We were on the road about four hours and when we arrived could not find a room in any hotel, but at last found one over a [illegible] saloon with two small beds in it. The two gentlemen slept on the floor, it being much better than either of the beds. We passed a very comfortable night and got up at 6:30 and left at 7:15 for Sedan. We passed several places where there had been some fighting. We also went through the town of Bazeilles that was burned by the Prussians. I never saw such a destruction. Every house but one was burnt. It was quite a large and prosperous town, with about 1,500 inhabitants. All the houses were built of stone. There were only the walls of about half of them standing. Some of the people that had lived in them were in the streets begging, but not as many as might have been expected.

From there we went directly to Sedan, which is quite a large and handsome town. I did not see that it had been damaged at all. We saw eight hundred cannon captured by the Prussians; among them were eighty seven mitrailleuses, and in a place that had been flooded we saw hundreds of French cavalry helmets, swords, etc. We tried to get some of them but found that we could not carry them out of the city. We walked outside of the fortifications, where we could get a good view of the Chateau Bellevue, where Bismarck saw the Emperor. We then went on the other side, where some of the hardest fighting was done. The hills were covered with knapsacks, and in many places there were a great many chassepots, but they were all imperfect, as the principal parts had been taken off from them, making them good for nothing. But I found a man who had hidden some good ones and I bought one for two francs and a half, also a [illegible] (bayonet sword) and a knapsack, and the others bought one also. We hid them all in the bottom of the carriage and passed the Belgian frontier safely, and I now have mine here in my room at school.

In returning we did not stop at Bouillon for fear of having our guns taken from us, but continued to Libramont, where we six had to take a small room with two beds in it and only just space enough between them to put a mattress on the floor. I enjoyed the trip very much and we are all glad we went.

A GENEROUS RETURN FOR A KIND ACT TO A POOR FRIENDLESS BOY.

[From the Louisville Courier Journal.]

One cold, windy, snowy night in the month of January, before the breaking out of the late war, a youth about sixteen years of age, and who was hungry and cold, stood screening himself from the wind and snow in one of the large doorways of the post-office. He was a stranger and had just arrived here from his home in one of the mountain counties, where he had been bound out by his parents before their death to work on a farm. He, it appears, was badly treated by his foster parents, and without a shilling in his pockets he left them to find his way to an uncle who lived somewhere in Kansas, where he did not know. About midnight that night a gentleman whose business called him to the post office discovered the boy in his lonely and sad condition, and after hearing his story, took him to the old Democrat office, then on Third street, and kept him there until the next morning. The gentleman who did this act of kindness received the following letter yesterday, which fully explains itself:

HAWKINS FARM, KANSAS, Oct. 1, 1870.

Mr. William Hays, Louisville, Ky.:

About ten or twelve years ago one cold night you took me to your printing office and let me stay in there all night. Next day you gave me some clothes, three dollars in money and a free passage to St. Louis on a steam wheel boat. I got there all right and worked my way up to Atchison, and from there I walked to my uncle's farm, and came nearly freezing out before I found him. He did not know me. I staid with him some time and then went into the army. His wife died and left no children. When the war was over I went back to live with him, and in four months he died, leaving me his farm and stock and everything. I got married and settled down on the farm, and I made a fine crop every year since. I have been married about two years, and we have got a little boy five weeks old, and he looks like me—it's mine. Last night me and [illegible] the letter you gave me, which I [illegible]:

[illegible]

Now sir, we [illegible] that the boy's name is William Hays Hawkins [illegible] with [illegible]. Write and let me know if [illegible] for my wife and [illegible]

Yours forever,
HIRAM PERCY HAWKINS.

LARGEST IRON WORKS IN AMERICA.—The Cambria Iron Works at Johnstown, Pa., 78 miles from Pittsburgh, is owned by a stock company of Pennsylvania capitalists. A Summary of its Acts

The Roseburg Ensign has the following article on the late Legislature:

Now that this body has adjourned, to the great relief of the whole State, it behooves us to hold up for public inspection the injury inflicted by this high handed Legislature. We invite the especial attention of our tax paying fellow citizens, and those among the Democracy itself who have been deceived by the false pledges of demagogues and pot house politicians. The cry of "Economy! Retrenchment and Reduction of Taxation!" which was so hypocritically uttered by every Democratic office seeker, even now rings in our ears. Their record is now before us. Instead of presenting a wise and prudent legislation, and a retrenchment of expenses in all Departments of State, it exhibits to a deceived people a partisan and vindictive course of procedure, a frivolous and hostile opposition not only to legislation from one department of the Legislature to the other, but from the Executive as well, together with a systematic draining of the State finances. Instead of being the most economical, it bears the unfortunate reputation of being the most extravagant administration in the history of our State. Having encouraged contests for seats of Republican members, a large sum is incurred for payment to contestants for mileage and per diem. A number of Democratic counties whose extravagances led them into debt have been relieved at the expense of the tax payers of the whole State. Union county is relieved by the remission of $2,756 delinquent taxes due the State. Josephine county is relieved of the payment of $937 87 delinquent taxes. Grant county is relieved of the payment of the greater portion of its taxes. Wasco county is also relieved. Lane county was relieved of $2,912 60 interest on delinquent taxes. $10,000 are loaned to an Academy in the Democratic county of Baker. $17,000 are appropriated to complete the draining of the lands in a little valley in the Democratic county of Union. In the Republican Legislature of 1866 only $4,000 was asked for this swindle, but in the strongly Democratic session of 1868 $15,000 was readily voted, and now another sum is given to complete the job. An Assistant Treasurer of State is provided with a compensation of more than $2,500 to assist the State Treasurer to perform the duties which the late Republican incumbent performed without such assistance and an enormous salary. The object of this new office is only to provide a fat berth for another hungry pet who became lean shouting "retrenchment!" Because the Secretary of State is a Democrat the Constitution is violated, under the guise of clerical aid, and he allowed $600 per annum additional, besides an increase of fees. Grover has chosen for his Private Secretary the presumptuous young Solon from Lane county, who in the last Legislature extinguished himself introducing resolutions instructing Senators Williams and Corbett to resign. This [illegible] of the party must be made comfortable from the tax payers' pockets, so his compensation is increased to $1,200 per annum. A Supreme Court Reporter is provided for with a salary of $800 and fees. Another Democrat rewarded. His banner also bore the magic word Retrenchment! The office of State Superintendent of Public Schools is created with a salary of $1,500, a clerk and office rent being allowed in addition. Another economical Democrat is appointed to this position. A Register for the sale of school lands east of the mountains, who draws his nourishment from the school fund derived from these sales, is also appointed. He is a good Democrat and is now appeased, though the last words uttered in the last canvass were, fellow citizens, we pledge you retrenchment. The Legislature appointed a committee with clerk hire to examine the accounts of the late Treasurer and Secretary of State. A committee also to examine the Penitentiary affairs, with power to sit three months, to receive $5 a day for each member of the committee, and in addition the power to employ a clerk. Is this not an extravagant proceeding? Whatever may be the condition of the accounts, it is absurd to assume that three months may be required for that which may be accomplished in three days. We ask, is this economy? The first committee on the part of both Houses to examine the matter admitted in their own Democratic report that they entrusted the examination to their clerks. They did not call Major Berry before them, for that would have spoiled their buncombe document. When the Republicans desired that Major Berry, who was present, be called upon and explain the false charges of the report, they refused. Not a Republican member of the committee was shown the report of the Democratic majority. No, the object was to blacken the memory of one of the best men of the State, and to prejudice the public against the Republican party. Shame upon such black leg justice. The Pages and other petty officers of both Houses, not being content with lawful compensation, have had their per diem increased. Is this economy? Committees that were never before allowed clerk-hire had this assistance under this economical administration. Every excuse was made in order to provide petty offices to pay favorite Democrats, that they might bum around Salem a little longer. But not satisfied with this wholesale plunder of the Treasury, an inroad is made on the Sacred School Fund. Of the many bills introduced to parcel out the 500,000 acres of School lands in the State, one passed and is signed by the economical Governor, granting $200,000 from this fund to a Democratic Corporation with Senator Kelly at the head. The object is to build locks at the Oregon City Falls. This fund was set apart by the founders of our State Constitution as an [illegible]. This clause in our Constitution was of course accepted by Congress on our admission as a State. An implied consent was given that these lands might be diverted from the improvement to the School fund. Although our State Constitution, which each member has sworn to support, was repeatedly held up as a barrier to this fraud and robbery, Democrats closed their eyes and passed the gigantic swindle. [illegible] have they for the Constitution [illegible] in view. This is virtually an appropriation of $200,000, which is ultimately to come as a tax upon the industrial branches of the State. Tax payers may [illegible] to pay the fiddler while the Democratic rabble have been dancing to the tune of retrenchment.

A funny story is going the rounds in Paris. A lady in the first society was recently obliged to dismiss her nurse on account of an excess of [illegible] too often [illegible]. After [illegible] the lady, explaining why the first went away, enjoined it on the second not to do likewise. She admitted [illegible] about the [illegible]. After a week or eight days the lady came one morning into the kitchen, opened the cupboard and discovered a youthful military character. [illegible] and the girl frightened: "I give you my word [illegible] that soldier before in my life; he must have been one of the old ones left over by the other girl."

This will not do and must be stopped. Here is a woman advertising herself in Iowa as an Attorness at Law. Dear ladies, be what you please, preach, practice [illegible], what you please, but in the name of common sense don't keep up these tyrannical distinctions of the sex by that barbarous termination "ess." There isn't any difference you know worth mentioning. Why say Doctress, Attorneyess, unless you are prepared to say "Preacheress"? O ladies! what are you but down trodden slaves, unless you are epicene.

A Partial Success

The largest Democratic vote ever polled in the city of New York was 112 2[illegible] This was in 1868 At least 25 000 of these votes were cast by repeaters The telegraph now tells us that the total vote of the city is 11[illegible] 000 In 1868 it was 1[illegible] 0[illegible]4 The decrease on the total vote is therefore fully 10 000 We observe however that the Herald by making such additions to the telegraphic dispatches as it thinks will serve its purpose and help make out a case assumes that the Democratic vote is larger than ever This is the way it fixes up the dispatches

> In the city the vote was as large as usual though the greatest precaution was taken against rep ating, and other fraudulent voting which should have diminished the total (Democratic) vote about twenty thousand, but on the other hand the safeguards afforded to legal voters brought out a class who have heretofore refrained from taking part in elections and swelled the total (Democratic vote) to one hundred and six teen thousand.

The words in parentheses are interpolated by the Herald for the purpose of making it appear that the Democratic vote of 1868 (112,000) was not fraudulent, because it is exceeded by the Democratic vote in the election just held. But every reader will perceive that the dispatches can mean nothing else than that the total vote of both parties in the city in this election is 116,000 or but little more than the Democratic vote alone in 1868 We have no doubt but full returns will show a large decrease both in the Democratic vote and in the Democratic majority in the city Hoffman had 70,000 majority in the city two years ago It will be found that he has not 50,000 now So much for the enforcement of the Congressional election law It is something gained when 20,000 repeaters are scared away from the polls. The next time with a still more efficient enforcement of the law and a full vote in the interior of the State the Republicans may carry New York

American Product of Gold and Silver

A leading commercial journal of New York has some remarks under this head which possess interest. It shows that notwithstanding the large exports of gold and silver during 1869 and 1870, the supply of the precious metals is considerably larger, through the steady rate of production, than at the corresponding period last year It is evident also, that paper argues, that we have the ability to resume specie payments without much longer delay The estimated production of gold and silver in the United States in 1869, is stated by the Commissioner of Mining Statistics, upon a bullion basis, at $3,500 000, distributed as follows California, $20 000,000, Nevada, $14,000,000 Oregon and Washington Territory, $4,000,000, Idaho, $7,000,000, Montana $12,000 000, Colorado and Wyoming, $4,000,000, New Mexico, $500,000; Arizona, $1,000,000 other sources, $1,000,000 There has been considerable falling off in the product of the placer mines of California Oregon, Idaho and Montana, but this has been more than met by the increase arising from quartz mining This fact goes to prove the necessity for the introduction of proper machinery and scientific knowledge into the mining regions Placer mining bears about the same relation to quartz mining that primitive systems of agriculture bear to the scientific methods of modern times. Quartz mining is the hope of our future bullion supply Scientific schools are graduating accomplished engineers. The moment they are seconded by capital this kind of mining will receive an impetus never before experienced Well educated men, who have ability to prospect and locate mines, direct operations, employ machinery, and attend to every detail, will invite an influence to the gold-bearing regions which has hitherto kept aloof. The day is fast coming when the paper corporations, that actually prevent development by their imaginary claims, will pass away, and actual corporate energy will be substituted The Government has been importuned to establish a national school of mining and metallurgy, but it has thus far refused Some of our colleges however, have taken the matter in hand, and the country will profit by the knowledge thus disseminated

OUR ELECTIONS—THE TWO PARTIES —The New York Herald has the following remarks on our elections The explanation they furnish is simple and just. We quote them as timely

> The Democrats gain on a short popular vote and the Republicans only hold their own or gain on a full popular vote. The principal reason for these respective party gains or losses lies in these facts The main strength of the Democrats is in the cities, towns and villages, the main strength of the Republicans is among the farmers Hence, while only some great occasion will serve to bring out the full Republican vote, because of the inconvenience and loss of time involved to the farmers in getting to the polls, the great body of the Democrats in cities and towns can vote at the next corner without inconvenience or loss of time and therefore they turn out more generally in all elections than the Republicans

So much is the Herald elated by the news of the elections, (in which however its party have not carried any State except New York and that State they had before), that the "Radical party is doomed, and that it will probably never make another respectable fight" If it doesn't make another "respectable fight" it will be because the party opposing it has become too contemptible to be worthy of its steel Come to think of it we don't know as a contest with such a poor obsolete, fag-end of a party as the so-called Democracy, can be very "respectable

Philadelphia journals are not satisfied with the returns of the United States Marshal as they give the city a population of only 677 159 The Telegraph says that if the rate of increase between the last two decades had been maintained during the past decade the population would now be 782 466 and if the rate of increase between 1840 and 1850 had been restored, the present population would be about 895,695 Since the returns began to come in we have not found one city to have a population equal to the anticipation of its newspapers

A fair was recently held at Denver at which the mineral and agricultural wealth of Colorado was displayed to an extent that highly elated the people of that Territory Of course the great glory of the fair was its display of ores and bullion The total value of the samples on exhibition exceeded $100 000 Such an exhibition was never before seen anywhere

The Herald is arguing that the West Side railroad will certainly be built, in order to save to the company the Portland and Astoria land grant We fear it will not As the case looks now it would seem that Gov Grover has killed the West Side railroad For this act the Herald applauds him West Side people will take notice

A French Plan of Campaign

A correspondent of the New York [illegible] writing from Paris is very confident that the defenders of that great city will be able not only to hold it but to drive the besiegers away He asserts that there are in Paris at least four hundred thousand men who are being organized and drilled and who will soon become effective soldiers This letter is dated October 12 The writer says

> You wonder why Trochu does not fight now He would not show himself worthy of his command if he did so His process is this A most thorough organization of his troops the habit of working together in masses drilling discipline blind obedience punishment of cowardice by death Then he goes through the process of testing each corps by making sorties At this the new troops take turns Thus they get accustomed to stand fire and learn by numerous little successes that the enemy is not really invincible Let this education go on for thirty days longer and I ask you what will be the condition of the 400 000 men under Trochu? Will they be much inferior to the 400 000 Germans besieging the city? Thirty days hence grand sorties may take place in such force that it must be an army of great activity and tremendous power to resist them Nothing less than 800 000 men with every modern appliance could have hope of conquering such a garrison The belt road around the inner fortifications will enable Trochu to throw 200 000 troops against any given point of the German lines while leaving an ample force to defend his works and if necessary to make feints elsewhere

It may be that as the armistice has failed these movements are about to begin in earnest yet it would seem that the most sanguine of the partisans of France could have little real hope of great results from them Before the Germans can be dislodged there must be more terrible and deadly fighting than has yet taken place Can Trochu organize an army that will fight more courageously than did the army commanded by McMahon or stand more pounding than did the regular forces of France which the Germans have totally overthrown? It would hardly be wise to suppose it

A French military writer has just published a pamphlet on the military situation in which he attempts to show that the men and resources at the disposal of the nation justify a firm hope of future success on the part of France Besides the army of the Loire and the troops shut up in Paris and other besieged places he believes that the available military strength of France amounts to one hundred and thirty thousand infantry thirty thousand cavalry twenty thousand artillery six thousand engineers twenty thousand marines and miscellaneous forces, four hundred thousand of the Garde Mobile, and one million of the Garde Nationale Then there are one hundred and seventy five thousand men of the contingent of 1870 actually called out and thirteen thousand Francs Tireurs making a grand total of one million eight hundred thousand With this material the writer proposes to organize five army corps each consisting of seventy-five thousand infantry two or three regiments of cavalry and two batteries of horse artillery These will constitute the troops of the first line The "troops of the second line are to consist of an equal number of the Garde Nationale similarly organized except that they will have siege pieces instead of mounted artillery, and will be without cavalry A corps of the first line and a corps of the second will be united to form an army Thus there will be five armies of one hundred and fifty thousand men each The author describes with considerable care the best positions for these new forces to occupy, and the lines of retreat and supply which each will have to maintain He stations the first at Amiens, the second at Rouen the third at Mans the fourth at Bourges and the fifth at Langres—making a complete circle around Paris, interrupting the Prussian communications, checking the raids of the German cavalry and fencing in the invaders with a stout barrier, behind which the remaining million of possible French soldiers can be organized in security At the proper moment this outer circle of armies will break in upon the Prussian rear, and the inner circle on the heights around Paris will break out upon the Prussian front The New York Tribune comments on this plan as follows

> The novelty of this scheme will perhaps commend it to favor at Tours, and if a General can be found capable of putting it into execution, who knows but we may see it tried? Only one thing seems to have been overlooked Germany has hundreds of thousands of men at home why should not she immediately establish another circle of armies in the rear of the new French levies? Then, taking the Tuileries, for instance, as a point of departure, we should have four concentric circles of armed men 1st the French in the forts around Paris 2d the besieging Prussians; 3d, French, 4th, Prussians The effect of a campaign conducted on this plan would be in the highest degree pleasing and instructive, and we doubt not would work a complete revolution in military science

Charles Sumner recently delivered a lecture at Boston on the European war He charged the origin of the war upon France and believed that the Emperor had met his just deserts But he believed that Germany should not despoil or dismember France The argument that France would have dismembered Germany if the fortunes of the war had been with her, Mr Sumner dismissed as unworthy For Germany he said should not now go to extremes merely because France would have done the same thing if she could The mad-cap menace of the French Empire, said he cannot be the measure of justice for Germany Mr Sumner argues this question much more coolly than the Germans will be apt to do Nations, when engaged in so fierce a struggle are not likely to be quite so disinterested and free from resentment Their it is that

> The good old rule sufficeth them
> The plain the simple plan
> That they should take who have the power
> And they should keep who can

We have been informed that our Senators are fully prepared on the opening of Congress next month to take measures to pass a resolution relative to the School lands of Oregon It is not doubted that Congress will declare in the case of Oregon as it did in the case of Iowa that its consent was given to the diversion of the five hundred thousand acres of land to the public schools Any solution of this kind would cut from under the plunderers the only ground they can pretend to stand on though the case is plain enough to all honest people now They who have perpetrated this flagrant violation of the Constitution this robbery of the educational fund of the State for the enrichment of a greedy grasping soulless corporation may yet have a hard road to travel

The States which held elections on Tuesday last were these Alabama Delaware Florida Illinois Kansas Kentucky Maryland Massachusetts Michigan Missouri Nevada New York New Jersey Rhode Island Tennessee Virginia and Wisconsin

The German war correspondents make frequent references to the intensely hostile feeling of the French population Herr Wachenhusen, of the Cologne Gazette, says At Nancy the billeting of the soldiers has been discontinued in consequence of murders committed on them in their quarters. There, as in every part of France occupied by invaders, the hatred of the people is daily increasing and the hope of driving out the enemy by a national rising is fanned by emissaries of the Republic

CURRENT NOTES

The steamboats Robert E Lee and Natchez are to run a race from New Orleans to Natchez for $[illegible] 000 The merchants of New Orleans are raise $10 000 and each boat subscribes $2 000

Indianapolis is the leading city of Indiana Its population is 40 236 gain of 3 32[illegible] in ten years or about 1[illegible] per cent It is one of the greatest railway centers in the world and that has given it prosperity and such rapid growth

The Marysville Stand[illegible] of Nov 3d states his instance of good luck We are pleased to be able to state that there lived one individual in this vicinity lucky enough to draw a respectable prize in the Mercantile Library Lottery A young man named Thomas Pillsbury of poor but respectable parents—a hack driver in this city during the late District Fair for Lam[illegible] & Co—arrived yesterday morning from C[illegible] and reported himself possessed of ticket No 16 [illegible] which calls for $18 000 The lucky man left for San Francisco by the 9 30 A M train

The registration of the vote of St Louis has just been completed This at the average of one voter to each seven of population of all ages sexes color and condition represents a total of about 290 000 inhabitants The Census Marshal returned 313 000 nearly which gives one voter to 11[illegible] or 100 voters to each 1 12[illegible] of population This singular disproportion of voting population is accepted by the Chicago papers as a clear proof that the United States Census Marshal greatly exaggerated the population of the city Two years ago the county of St Louis cast 35 000 votes and the county of Cook (Chicago) 46 631 having 50 600 registered Then the total population of Cook county was 310 000 In short it had just about twice the ratio of voters to population as St Louis now has There is little doubt that Chicago is to day the most populous town by 50 000 Such false returns are only calculated to bring the census into contempt

A correspondent writing from Mohave City Arizona gives this account of an Indian fight On last Tuesday the citizens of this place witnessed the conclusion of a fight between the Piutes and Mohaves The fight commenced about two miles below this place by about 150 Piutes attacking a Mohave camp with probably 40 or 50 Mohaves in it This was about daylight The Piutes killed some six Mohaves in their first fire the former or most of them, having guns and pistols while the Mohaves had only clubs and some few bows After the Mohaves commenced to come in from other camps the Piutes retreated to the Mesa and the Mohaves following After fighting here about an hour, without any damage to either party the Piutes retreated to the foothills, about one mile off, where they kept up their war whoops and some shooting until about 9 o clock killing two Mohaves, and one Piute being also killed The Piutes then retreated in good order and recrossed the river about six miles above here stating that they were out of ammunition, would go and get more and return soon and give the Mohaves another fight It is strange where the Piutes get their guns and ammunition

THE TERRITORIES

Seven steam quartz mills are now running all the time at Owyhee

The Governor of Washington Territory has issued a proclamation designating Thursday, the 24th inst as a day of Thanksgiving We are in receipt of a very neatly gotten up duplicate of the proclamation, duly signed and sealed

About two months ago Clark and Stacy's saw mill on Jordan creek Owyhee was burned causing a loss of $10 000 The proprietors at once purchased another mill on the same creek and this mill is now burned entailing an equal loss

In 1858 James E Williamson, who lives near Steila[illegible] W T lost a buckskin purse containing $18 in coin A few days ago a cow was slaughtered in the neighborhood for beef and in her stomach was found the money minus an English sovereign

Some time ago at Silver City (Idaho) a Chinaman bought a wife for $1 400 Last week the almond eyed spouse "kicked the bucket and was buried The widower is disconsolate, and says that he will not invest so much money in female flesh any more

There is a wonderful spring of water near the Three Forks of the Owyhee river, which is said to cure all contagious diseases, and to take away all appetite for intoxicating liquors It must be the identical spring that old Ponce De Leon, spent so many years in trying to find

Steam Cultivation and the Labor Question

The way in which the European race will do most towards the actual cultivation of tropical countries will be when one mechanic will stand in a covered engine car, and having a few valves and levers within reach will with the assistance of one or two native stokers and steersmen thoroughly plow his 100 acres of land in ten hours without fatigue or exhaustion to himself or his assistants! This sounds chimerical but it is almost within the power of machinery now at work We copy the following extract from the Scientific American of May 14th last describing steam plows at work on the Magnolia Sugar Estate in Louisiana one of the largest in the country

> "This new implement of agriculture consists of two ten ton portable engines resembling the old locomotive that many of our readers probably have noticed at the lake end of the Pontchartrain depot Beneath each locomotive is a revolving steam drum, on which passes the steel corrugated wire rope that draws to and fro the cultivator to which are attached some ten steel tipped plow blades The cultivator is an iron frame with a seat at each end and mounted on two iron wheels On top of the cultivator sits a colored boy who by means of a simple tiller directs the progress of the plow The locomotive engines are situated directly opposite to each other about two acres in distance By means of a steam drum and the rope the cultivator traverses the field back and forward much faster than a man can walk and turning up the soil to a depth of eighteen or twenty inches in a more effectual manner than could be done by the old system a harrow some eight feet in length is used over the same field, and is propelled with great ease by the same motive power
> Mr Lawrence the proprietor of the estate has four of these plows in operation which easily turn over twenty four acres a day at a cost including fuel and labor of some three dollars per acre which is quite a saving over the method heretofore pursued There is no apparent intricate machinery about the work the whole seems to work as smoothly as an ordinary standing grist mill the locomotive trails over the road quite easily propelled by steam Mr Lawrence last fall took off a crop of over six hundred hogsheads of sugar the entire plowing having been performed by the steam apparatus The plow locomotive etc were constructed by a firm in Leeds England and cost exclusive of freight etc some £1100 The first one imported to this country is now in New Jersey one was subsequently sent to Illinois which has lately been sent to this State and is now in operation at the Concession Plantation in the parish of Plaquemine, where it is said to give great satisfaction

In the same periodical of August 13th last, we find that—

> Mr Clarke a member of one of the committees in a lecture on steam cultivation delivered before the Central Farmers Club in December last said (with reference to a trial of steam apparatus at the recent show of the R A Society)
> Now some persons may think itast[illegible] ing to talk of but from fifty to seventy acres a day being cultivated I admit that it is very astounding but I also assert that I saw the thing done and there are other persons also who saw it done I tell you too that the apparatus was not in a perfect state it was one of the earliest trials made of that particular arrangement I have not the slightest doubt that the makers of steam plows are prepared though I have not their authority to say so to do in answer to a challenge, an extent of land in a day which would astonish every one present. I have not the slightest doubt myself that seventy acres—I should not stare particularly if one hundred acres could be cultivated, provided the work was tolerably light

THE NEVADA CAPITOL —The Carson Appeal of November 1st thus speaks of the progress made in the erection of its Capitol

The Capitol building's roof is almost entirely finished will be wholly so this week The cornices are all up and only await their final coating of paint and sand to be quite finished The granite steps at the front and south entrances are completed The carpenters are at work finishing up the cupola which weather permitting will all be done within the next four or twelve days Inside the handsome floors—of one inch and a half clear sugar pine—are being laid The grand stairways leading to the second floor will be placed in position early in the present month The lathing is all about done The plasterers have covered the walls and ceiling of the Assembly Chamber (south end of the building) with the scratch coat and are at work in the Senate Chamber The hot air furnaces are on the way from New York The plumbers and gas fitters are busy pipe laying

... —Some infernal inquisitive chap has ... and done it to oysters in the following ... but uncomfortable and disgusting ... "Open an oyster, retain the liquor in the lower or deep shell, and if viewed through a microscope it will be found to contain multitudes of small oysters covered with shells and swimming nimbly about—one hundred and twenty ... which ... but one inch. Besides these young oysters the liquor contains a variety of animalculae and myriads of three distinct species of worms. Sometimes their light resembles a bluish star about the center of the shell which will be beautifully luminous in a dark room." That fellow ... with jaundiced jealousy, and wants to ... with the oyster dealer. If he had gone to his funeral immediately upon discovering the ... infantile bivalves in the parent shell ... might have been revered as an eminent ... and a public benefactor. It would have been an infinite consolation to epicures to know that they were eating just one hundred and twenty oysters when paying for ... the animalculae! and the three distinct species of worms! Bah. Put him out! ... will never be happy till these investigators are extinguished.

... Inspection and Muster.—The two ... companies of this city—the Washington ... and the Emmett Guard—were inspected ... by Brig Gen O F Bell and staff, ... JUDGE LORENZO SAWYER

COMPLIMENTARY RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY THE PORTLAND BAR

The attorneys of Portland who have had business in the United States Circuit Court presided over by Judges Sawyer and Deady held a meeting in the court room yesterday afternoon to give expression to their appreciation of Judge Sawyer. Judge Deady was chosen chairman and ex Governor A C Gibbs secretary whereupon the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the members of the Bar of the Circuit Court of the United States for the District of Oregon do hereby express their high appreciation of the learning and ability of Hon Lorenzo Sawyer Judge of the Circuit Court for this District as displayed throughout this the first important term of said Court presided over by him and that his constant endeavors to make the proceedings of the Court a means of accomplishing substantial justice entitle him to the entire esteem and confidence of litigants and the community at large.

Resolved, That the sincere thanks of the members of the Bar are due to Judge Sawyer for the uniform courtesy, forbearance and kindness he has shown them while presiding over this Court.

Resolved, That the Secretary is requested to move for leave to have these resolutions placed upon the records of the Circuit Court at its first meeting presided over by the United States District Judge and that the Clerk of said Court is requested to furnish a copy hereof to the Hon Lorenzo Sawyer.

Not Small Pox.—Dr Dickson publishes a card in relation to a case of sickness in this city which he is treating and which has been currently reported to be a case of small pox. He denies that it is small pox but says "I admit that there is foundation and color given to such report in eruptions of Acne rosacea and Lichen which have appeared upon the surface, forehead neck etc. Medical gentlemen not having had practical experience would be likely to confound it with the small pox owing to the fusion of the papular and postular form which it assumes and the accompanying symptoms. I will not here stop to point out the distinctive characteristic difference, but merely observe it is as wide as the poles to an educated eye. As surgeon of an hospital during two epidemics, within and without the wards, I had abundant opportunity to see the disease in all its stages and it gives me therefore confidence as well as gratification to assure your readers, that I have not personally seen a case in this city."

New Map of Oregon.—Messrs Stitzel & Upton's Real Estate Journal for November has just been published, containing a new map of Oregon, which the editor says "was drawn by a skillful civil engineer who has long been connected with scientific expeditions on this coast and engraved by W C Butler, of No 61 Clay street, San Francisco. It shows very accurately we think the relative position of rivers towns mountains counties etc of all of Western Oregon the country lying next to the eastern base of the Cascades and the southern part of Washington Territory. As an accompaniment to the real estate advertising and descriptive sheet, the map will be very useful and convenient not only to people in Oregon, but to whomsoever it may be sent. This enterprising firm print each month 5 000 copies of their Journal, and distribute them free to all parts of the United States and Europe.

Oro Fino Theater.—The announcement of the beautiful drama of "The Angel of Midnight" attracted a good house last evening at Oro Fino Theater. It is a weird thrilling, sentimental drama containing frequent exciting passages, startling situations and beautiful pictures—calculated to draw out all the dramatic talent of the people engaged in its representation. With such a piece the entertainment could not fail to be of the highest order, and we unhesitatingly pronounce last evening's performance one of the very best of this or any former season in this city. The piece will be played again this evening and we advise everybody to go and witness it.

Salem Directory.—Mr C D Snyder of Salem is canvassing in this city for advertisements for a Salem Directory to be published by him. The book is to contain a large amount of useful information beside the usual directory matter, and as it is to be distributed throughout this and the adjoining States and territories it will be an excellent advertising medium. Mr Snyder is well known in this city as the pioneer book binder.

Ferry License Granted.—The County Commissioners yesterday granted the petition of Geo W Weidler for a license to run a ferry between Clinton's Point and North Portland. This is the O and C Railroad ferry.

Religious Lectures.—Rev W H Stoy began last evening a series of lectures at Trinity Church on "The Book of Common Prayer."

A Dream and What Came of it

The Owyhee Avalanche of the 5th inst., relates the following:

Although the commonly received opinion now a days in relation to the nature of dreams, does not ascribe to them anything ominous or prophetic, yet instances sometimes occur that would seem to question the correctness of this belief. The following strange fulfillment of a dream comes under our observation. William Hart and his brother Henry arrived here on the stage from Mountain City last Saturday evening. For two nights previous to undertaking the journey Henry dreamed that he was falling from a great height and both times, imagined that he struck upon a large pyramidal shaped rock. He spoke of this to a number of persons and so firmly was the evil forboding impressed upon his mind, that while riding in the stage he was continually fearful of its upsetting on some of the high grades over which it passed. Arriving safely here, he dismissed his fears and as he was walking down Washington street about 8 o'clock in the evening, in company with his brother William, he walked off of the embankment below Sommercamp's saloon falling a distance of twenty feet. Upon examination it was found that he had struck upon the identical pyramidal shaped rock of which he had dreamed. No bones were broken although his back was severely injured and his face and other portions of his body badly bruised. He was unable to walk but had so far recovered in two days afterward as to enable him to proceed in the stage to Boise City. That a man should dream twice in succession of falling on a rock and then travel more than a hundred miles to find the rock is certainly rather a strange occurrence.

The Chicago Post while deploring the necessity for capital punishment suggests that executions may hereafter take place in close buildings, without the presence of the promiscuous public, and that the disgusting scaffold be superseded by electricity or chloroform.

The Day after the Delirium

The San Francisco ... had the article ... the day after the lottery:

Monday was in some respects the most remarkable day in the history of this city. The leading branches of business were either suspended, or were subordinated to the business of gaming. About 50 000 people gave ... up ... financial ... The master passion ... getting something for nothing ruled for the day. Yesterday 50 000 people awoke in the city to find that fortune had jilted them and that they were poorer in purse and in self-respect than before they had made their ventures. The average ... man has been disappointed so often that he takes any affliction without showing any outward signs of distress. And yet there is no lack in many quarters of something akin to anguish. Laborers widows servant girls and children did in many instances invest nearly all they had in the scheme of yesterday. They won no prize but they have probably won a keener grip of poverty. Children will go without bread and there will be more of destitution which is concealed from the public eye.

It was readily admitted that the loss of the Mercantile Library would have been a public calamity. And so a greater calamity was substituted for the lesser one. There is a certain measure of success on the money side of the transaction which will go far to turn the edge of whole some criticism. A debt of $ 40 000 was paid at the cost of $1 000 000—twenty four per cent of the sum finding its way to liquidate indebtedness.

As the Mercantile Library was an institution for the education of the people and especially for the young it would not do to let it fail. It has cost a million dollars to redeem it and the schooling of the whole community in the business of gaming. The Library has been saved. But was it worth saving at such a cost. It will abide as a monument of sacrifice of patient ... tion but of reckless prodigality. Other libraries have been built up in this community by ... economy—by that toil and patience which becomes a part of all healthful education. But the events of yesterday will be associated with this library as long as the memory of the youngest child shall last. The historical associations never can be separated. The boy who goes for a book and who is carefully instructed at home concerning all the evils of gaming will never lose the consciousness that the very book he draws was made accessible through a game of chance. You must not gamble is the precept of home. But all these treasures were won by gaming—the moral of the library.

The delirium of Monday is over. The people who fainted because they drew no prizes will soon feel better. These and some thousands more that have learned that no substantial fortune can be gained here awoke yesterday to the consciousness of the fact without hard work. It is the old story. But the only fortunes which last here are those which have been well seasoned with sweat and grime. There are more idle people here than in any city of the same size in the country. A shrewd observer has justly said that one must travel as far as Naples before so large a proportion of idle people can be found. A majority of this class expected to draw prizes on Monday. If they could only be content to draw the compensating prize of hard work, fortune would be assured. Idleness beggary and crime are increasing and the more rapid the increase the more is the temper of the people disposed to tolerate any desperate game of chances. Forty million acres are waiting in this State for an installment of working men. The prizes are homesteads wheat fields and herds of cattle on the hill sides. These are legitimate prizes and there are no blanks.

Owyhee Mining News

From the Owyhee Avalanche Nov 5

We visited the Illinois Central mine a couple of days ago, and found the proprietors, Sands & Co., still taking out fine looking ore. The average width of the vein is 15 inches—in some places much wider. The casings are smooth and well defined. They have stoped out the ore for a distance of thirty feet south of the shaft between thirty and forty feet deep and have on the dump and at the Minear mill about 100 tons. We predict a handsome dividend to the lucky owners.

A new ledge called the "Belgium" has recently been discovered in which are interested John Schmidt, Sam Beagle and others. It is situated below the road a short distance east of Oro Fino, and is about eight inches in width. One assay of the ore yielded $892 per ton—$60 in gold and the remainder in silver. Another assay of average rock pounded up in a mortar yielded a fraction over $600 per ton. Parties are at work sinking on the vein, and the Belgium bids fair to rank high among the rich mines of our camp.

Work on the Red Mountain still progresses and the ore is being worked at the Webfoot mill.

A three foot ledge of splendid looking ore has recently been struck in the Mahogany mine, and Pete Fick is driving ahead his contract.

The Skookam boys are actively engaged in working their ore—some of it at their own arastra and some at the Minear mill.

The Oro Fino is now clear of water the timbering of the shaft is being repaired, and there will soon be lively operations thereabouts.

Superintendent Hyde of the Peck & Porter, is having a splendid ore house erected, and the place graded and the timbers on the ground for the hoisting works.

Mr Peck has had a few tons of Belle Peck ore crushed at Trask's arastra. We have not been informed of the yield but will wager that it panned out handsomely.

Trask's arastra is running on a batch of ore from the Wild Dutchman mine.

A contract has been let to sink the main shaft of the Ida Elmore 100 feet deeper, and a rich and extensive strike is expected.

The Chariot continues rich as ever and the stock has gone up to $60 per share.

A good stroke of work was done by the French recently before Paris. While the cannon of Mont Valerien were demolishing the works set up by the Prussians on the hights of Meudon, General Noel, who commands this fort sent out 2,000 men armed with sacks and pickaxes. They proceeded under the protection of the guns of the fort to gather in an abundant harvest of potatoes and returned in two hours bringing back their 2 000 sacks quite full. A herd of 1 500 oxen is said to have been drawn away from the Prussian camp and brought to Paris.

A Mormon Romance—The Man with Twenty Wives

From the Trinidad (Colorado) Enterprise

CHAPTER I.—THE MORMON'S DEPARTURE

The morning on which Reginald Gloverson was to leave Great Salt Lake City with a mule train, dawned beautifully.

Reginald Gloverson was a young and thrifty Mormon with an interesting family of twenty young and handsome wives.

His unions had never been blessed with children. As often as once a year he used to go to Omaha in Nebraska with a mule train for goods, but although he had performed the rather perilous journey many times with entire safety, his heart was strangely sad on this particular morning and filled with gloomy forebodings.

The time for his departure had arrived. The high-spirited mules were at the door impatiently champing their bits. The Mormon stood sadly among his weeping wives.

'Dearest ones,' he said, 'I am singularly sad at heart this morning, but do not let this depress you. The journey is a perilous one but—pshaw! I have always come back safely heretofore, and why should I fear? Besides I know that every night as I lay down on the broad, starlit prairie your bright faces will come to me in my dreams and make my slumber sweet and gentle. You, Emily, with your mild blue eyes, and you, Henrietta, with your splendid black hair, and you, Nellie, with your hair so brightly beautifully golden, and you, Mollie, with your cheeks so downy, and Betsy, with your—with your—that is to say, Susan with your—and the other fourteen of you, each so good and so beautiful, will come to me in sweet dreams, will you not, dearestists?'

'Our own,' they lovingly chimed, 'we will!'

"And so farewell!" cried Reginald. "Come to my arms, my own," he said, "that is as many of you as can do it conveniently at once, for I must away."

He folded several of them to his throbbing breast and drove sadly away.

But he had not gone far when the trace of the off hind mule became unhitched. Dismounting, he essayed to adjust the trace; but ere he had fairly commenced the task the mule, a singularly refractory animal, snorted wildly and kicked Reginald frightfully in the stomach. He arose with difficulty and tottered feebly toward his mother's house, which was near by, falling dead in the yard, with the remark, 'Dear mother, I've come home to die!'

"So I see," she said, "but where's the mules?"

Alas! Reginald Gloverson could give no answer. In vain the heart-stricken mother threw herself upon his inanimate form, crying, "Oh, my son—my son!—only tell me where the mules are, and then you may die if you want to."

In vain—in vain! Reginald had passed on.

CHAPTER II.—FUNERAL TRAPPINGS

The mules were never found.

Reginald's heart-broken mother took the body home to her unfortunate son's widows. But before her arrival, she indiscreetly sent a boy to burst the news, gently to the afflicted wives, which he did by informing them in a hoarse whisper that their "old man had gone in."

The wives felt very badly indeed.

"He was devoted to me," sobbed Emily.

"And to me," said Maria.

"Yes," said Emily, "He thought considerable of you, but not so much as he did of me."

"I say he did!"

"And I say he didn't!"

"He did!"

"He didn't!"

"Don't look at me with your squint eyes!"

"Don't shake your red head at me!"

"Sisters," said the black-haired Henrietta, "cease this unseemly wrangling. I, as his first wife, shall strew flowers on his grave."

"No you won't," said Susan. "I, as his last wife, shall strew flowers on his grave. It's my business to strew."

"You shan't—so there!" said Henrietta.

"You bet I will," said Susan, with a tear-suffused cheek.

"Well, as for me, [illegible] the practical Betsy, [illegible] strew much, but I shall ride at the head of the funeral procession."

"Not if I have been introduced to myself, you won't," said the golden-haired Nelly, "that's my position. You bet your bonnet [illegible] it is."

"[illegible]" said Reginald's mother, "you [illegible] crying, you know, on the day of the funeral [illegible] many pocket handkerchiefs [illegible] go round? Betsy, you and Nellie ought to make one do between you."

"I'll tear her eyes out if she perpetrates a sob on my handkercher!" said Nelly.

"Dear daughters-in-law," said Reginald's mother, "how unseemly is this anger. Mules is six hundred dollars a span, and every identical mule my poor boy had has been gobbled up by the red man. I knew when my poor Reginald staggered into the door-yard that he was on the die, but if I'd only thunk to ask him about them mules ere his gentle spirit took its flight, it would have been four thousand dollars in our pockets and no mistake. Excuse these real tears, but you've never felt a parent's feelings."

"It's an oversight," sobbed Maria. "Do not blame us."

CHAPTER III.—DUST TO DUST

The [illegible] passed off in a pleasant manner, nothing occurring to mar the harmony of the occasion. By a happy thought of Reginald's mother, the wives walked to the grave twenty abreast, which rendered that part of the ceremony thoroughly impartial.

That night twenty wives with twenty heavy hearts sought their twenty respective couches.

In another house, not twenty leagues from the house of mourning, a gray haired woman was weeping passionately.

"He died," she cried, "he died without signifying, in any respect, where them mules went to!"

CHAPTER IV.—MARRIED AGAIN

Two years elapsed between the third and fourth chapters. A manly Mormon, one evening, as the sun was preparing to set among a [illegible] assortment of gold and crimson clouds in the western horizon—although for that matter the sun has a right to "set" wherever it wants to, and so, I may add, has a hen—a manly Mormon, I say, tapped gently at the door of the mansion of the late Reginald Gloverson.

The door was opened by Mrs. Susan Gloverson.

"Is this the house of the widow Gloverson?" the Mormon asked.

"It is," said Susan.

"And how many is there of she?" inquired the Mormon.

"There is about twenty of her, including me," returned Susan.

"Can I see her?"

"You can."

"Madam," he softly said, addressing the twenty disconsolate widows, "I have seen a part of you before. And although I've already twenty-five wives whom I respect and tenderly care for I can truly say that I never felt love's holy thrill till I saw thee! Be mine! be mine!" he enthusiastically cried, "and we will show the world a striking illustration of the beauty and truth of the noble lines, only a good deal more so—

"Twenty-one souls with a single thought
Twenty-one hearts that beat as one."

They were united—they were!

VARIETIES

In Memphis the dentists are charging $3 a pull.

What is home without a piano? Very quiet.

The only mention of paper money in the Bible, says an exchange, is where it says that the dove brought the "green back" to Noah. A mistake. When the twelve were sent out they were commanded to take no "scrip" with them.

The Boston Post says: "A barrel of illuminating oil exploded in the cellar of a grocery in Indiana the other day, and killed four persons, thereby saving many lives that would probably have been sacrificed had it been sold at retail."

An Ohio youth who desired to wed the object of his affections, had an interview with her paternal ancestor, in which he stated that although he had no wealth worth speaking of yet he was chuck full of day's work. He got the girl.

LAWS OF OREGON

An Act for the selection and sale of the swamp and overflowed lands belonging to the State of Oregon.

Whereas Congress by an Act entitled "An Act to extend the provisions of an Act to enable the State of Arkansas and other States to reclaim the swamp lands within their limits to Minnesota and Oregon and for other purposes," approved September 12th, eighteen hundred and sixty, has granted to this State all the swamp and overflowed lands within its limits; and

Whereas, by the failure of the Secretary of the Interior to notify the Governor of this State, [illegible] the surveys have been completed and confirmed in accordance with the provisions of said Act, swamp or overflowed lands have been selected in this State; therefore,

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon as follows:

SECTION 1. It shall be the duty of the Commissioner of Lands to appoint a suitable person or persons as his deputies to proceed as soon as practicable to select in the field all the lands rendered unfit for cultivation by inundation or overflow within this State and to make return of the same to said Commissioner. And it shall be the duty of such deputies to describe each tract of swamp or overflowed land they may select in a clear and distinct manner, either by legal subdivisions or by actual survey, and upon the receipt of such returns it shall be the duty of said Commissioner to carefully examine the same.

SEC. 2. So soon as the selection of swamp and overflowed lands in any county has been completed by said Commissioner of lands it shall be the duty of said commissioner to make out maps and descriptions thereof in duplicate, one copy to be kept in suitable books in his office and the other to be filed in the office of the County Clerk of the county in which such swamp lands may be located, and it shall be the duty of such County Clerk to forward his official certificate to said Commissioner of the date of which said maps and descriptions were so filed. Upon the receipt of such certificate it shall be the duty of said Commissioner to give public notice of said completion, approval and filing for four weeks successively in some weekly newspaper published in such county, and if no newspaper is published in such county then in such newspaper as he may select in an adjoining county.

SEC. 3. The swamp and overflowed lands of this State shall be sold by said Commissioner at a price not less than one dollar per acre in gold coin. Any person over the age of twenty-one years and being a citizen of the United States, or having filed his declaration to become a citizen, as required by the naturalization laws, may become an applicant for the purchase of any tract or tracts of said swamp and overflowed lands upon filing his application therefor (describing the tract or tracts he desires to purchase) by the actual survey, or if no survey has been made, then by fences, ditches, monument or other artificial or natural landmarks, with said Commissioner, whose duty it shall be to immediately endorse thereon the actual date of such filing. In case of adverse applicants for the same tract or parcel of swamp land, it shall be the duty of said Commissioner to sell the same to the legal applicant therefor whose application is first filed. Within ninety days after the date of the public notice provided in Section 2 of this act, twenty per centum of the purchase money shall be paid by the applicant to said Commissioner, whose duty it shall be to issue to the applicant a receipt therefor, and the balance of said purchase money shall be paid on proof of reclamation as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 4. No patent shall be issued to any applicant for any swamp or overflowed lands until the applicant therefor has proved to the satisfaction of said Commissioner that the land for which he claims a patent has been drained or otherwise made fit for cultivation, but upon such proof being made and payment of the balance of the purchase money on the amount of land actually reclaimed, the said Commissioner shall issue to the applicant making such proof and payment a patent for the land so reclaimed. Said patent shall be approved and signed by the Governor, Secretary of State and State Treasurer, as provided for by the Constitution. At the expiration of ten years from and after his first payment all swamp lands claimed by an applicant upon which no such proof of reclamation and payment has been made shall revert to the State, and the money paid thereon shall be forfeited. Provided, That all swamp land which has been successfully cultivated in either grass, the cereals or vegetables for three years shall be considered as fully reclaimed within the meaning of this Act.

SEC. 5. The deputies employed to select the swamp and overflowed lands as provided in section 1 of this Act, shall receive not not to exceed five dollars per day for each day actually employed in the discharge of their duties, and such further allowance for traveling assistance and other necessary expenses as may be ascertained by said Commissioners, which shall be paid as other expenses arising from the management of the State lands.

SEC. 6. As the State is likely to suffer loss by further delay in taking possession of the swamp lands within its limits, this Act shall take effect and be in force from and after its approval by the Governor: Provided, That in case the office of Commissioner of Lands is not created by law, the provisions of this Act shall be executed by the Board of Commissioners for the sale of school and university lands.

Approved October 26, 1870.

LAND DEPARTMENT OREGON & CALIFORNIA RAILROAD COMPANY.

Salem Oregon, October [illegible]

THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT IS MADE FOR the information of all concerned:

First—Congress has granted to the Company a [illegible] at [illegible] of the public lands designated by [illegible] within [illegible] thirty miles on each side of the railroad, excepting lands to which a pre-emption or homestead claim had attached prior to the withdrawal [illegible] Government [illegible] of the lands [illegible] terminus [illegible] [illegible] located line from East Portland to Jefferson, [illegible] February 16 1870. The second [illegible] from Jefferson to a point six miles [illegible] [illegible] May 1870, and from the [illegible] to the [illegible] line.

Second—Persons who have [illegible] tract [illegible] can purchase the same from the Railroad Company at the Government price of $1 25 per acre in greenbacks and upon very favorable terms if they so desire, by filing an abandonment of their claim in the U S Land Office, blanks for which will be furnished by the Land Agent of the Company. Such purchase from the Company has these advantages over a purchase from the Government: The party can leave the land if necessary; he can sell the land or mortgage it; he is saved the payment of lawyers' or agents' fees and expenses of witnesses to go to the Land Office to prove up his claim; he can get his title perfect in less time, and he can buy on credit at a low rate of interest.

Third—No sales will be made by the Company until the land is listed over to it by the United States Land Commissioner and Secretary of the Interior.

Purchasers are thus assured that the title they obtain is perfect.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES.

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases!

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences or from virus absorbed into the system. Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation they linger and suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years and who effects a cure to the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained should apply immediately either in person or by letter and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible and will give to each patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded free from damage and curiosity to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who with bogus sworn-to certificates dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former avocations in it. Look at the Directory for 1864 and 1865. The only way to avoid imposition is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR J F GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial (Private Entrance on Commercial), San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 252 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

☞ Correspondents will please inform DR GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian. jy6d4ptf

THE RIVERSIDE HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION

EAST PORTLAND, OREGON,

IS NOW PREPARED TO RECEIVE [illegible] to the Stock.

Application for ONE HUNDRED SHARES [illegible] before the books were opened, and a [illegible] Shares have been taken.

The following extracts from the Oregonian will convey a good idea of the plan [illegible] the Association, the location of the [illegible]

RIVERSIDE HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION.

This association of whose organization [illegible] an account a few days since, is now ready to dispose of shares. As it is with one [illegible] Portland Homestead Association [illegible] organization of that kind in this city [illegible] well enough to state what are [illegible] the manner in which it is proposed [illegible] operations. The purpose [illegible] Associations are not at all [illegible] ordinary sense of the word. [illegible] for the profits of their investment [illegible] ral advance in the value of their [illegible] quent upon the co-operation of [illegible] —shareholders—and the advance [illegible] surrounding lands by reason of [illegible] population and demand for [illegible] still near, the city. The Riverside Association has a fraction over one [illegible] twenty acres of land [illegible] Brooklyn on the east side of the [illegible] est boundary line being [illegible] ferry landing at East Portland [illegible] in one strip along the Willamette [illegible] in length and another strip along [illegible] California railroad, half a mile in [illegible] strips being connected near the [illegible] rows of blocks (with a street [illegible]) the whole forming a figure not unlike the letter [illegible] It is divided into 74 blocks, 296 lots [illegible] streets running at right angles [illegible] al lots, along the river [illegible] ber 600, worth $40 per [illegible] a share thus represents [illegible] vided int[illegible] it in the [illegible] tional shares are to [illegible] for the benefit of the [illegible] coming in for the [illegible] number of shares [illegible] taken and then [illegible] mine to do [illegible] will be put up [illegible] bidder, the proceeds of [illegible] the original price of [illegible] equally among the [illegible] Thus, if a person [illegible] and is willing to pay $100 [illegible] or less as the case may be [illegible] the lot or block as his [illegible] premium being divided [illegible] of shareholders. It will [illegible] everything is co-operative [illegible] [illegible] No man can [illegible] out also making a [illegible] shareholder. There is [illegible] the property, by some [illegible] far below the first [illegible] liable to happen in the [illegible] tract of land must be judged by [illegible] but considering the steady [illegible] vance on real estate [illegible] hood, and at East Portland [illegible] last year or two, it [illegible] values to go back.

In the Riverside Association all [illegible] tions seem to have been [illegible] monopolies of shares. No [illegible] buy more than the number of [illegible] three blocks, or twenty-four [illegible] termining the operations of the [illegible] restricted in the same [illegible] shares may pay down $50 [illegible] exempt them from all [illegible] pay $15 quarterly with an [illegible] share payable with the first [illegible] liable in this latter case to [illegible] other) assessment of [illegible] payment of the shares in full [illegible] as above, the holder is [illegible] and his proportion of all the profits [illegible] all sources. No officer of the [illegible] any pay for services except the [illegible] gets $25 per month [illegible] expenses must be light.

That part of the tract lying [illegible] a high plateau nearly level, about [illegible] above the water. [illegible] row of blocks but commands a [illegible] Portland and the river for [illegible] stream. That part of the tract [illegible] railroad is every foot of it [illegible] soil and adapted to gardening [illegible] tiful little stream of pure [illegible] almost the entire length of [illegible] affording the means of [illegible] ficient to supply pure water to every part of the whole tract. There is not a waste [illegible] lot in the entire tract. Under all these advantages it would seem impossible that there should be any chance of loss to shareholders. Within a year each shareholder, if he chooses, may get a perfect title to as many lots as his [illegible] represent or he may [illegible] vided with the Association [illegible] tion may exist.—Oregonian [illegible]

THE RIVERSIDE HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION.

We have been led to make these [illegible] fact that the subject of making [illegible] skirts of this city and East Portland [illegible] discussed here among all classes [illegible]

Riverside, just south of East Portland [illegible] been established. The site of [illegible] ing a little over a mile south of the [illegible] shaped like the letter H, one side of [illegible] in length, borders on the river [illegible]

From this portion of the [illegible] but a trifle above the other portion [illegible] forty or fifty feet above the river, can be had an extensive view of Portland, East Portland, [illegible] the Willamette river for [illegible] fertile and is partly covered with [illegible] tract of land just wide enough [illegible] with an avenue between them [illegible] of the H (which has already been [illegible]) the east. This last tract of land [illegible] valley which is now under a high [illegible] Through its whole length runs a [illegible] [illegible] clear as crystal. With a hydraulic ram the Association proposes to have water conveyed through pipes to every portion of the [illegible]
